Say Hello To Our New Life Planners!

We're thrilled to announce the launch of our brand-new range of personalised Life Planners.

These stunning personal organisers are designed to help you capture and organise your whole life on paper, as well as empower and inspire you on a daily basis.

Click here for high-res images.

Available in three luxe limited-edition colours and designs, the Life Planners are priced at £37.95 each on the Martha Brook website.

Bringing together all the things our customers love about Martha Brook in one place! With weekly planning spreads to help with productivity and self-kindness, inspirational quotes and regular chances to pause and reflect, our Life Planners will help you move forward through a whole year with a greater sense of clarity and purpose.

The planners are refillable with beautiful gold binding so you can add or remove as-you-go. Although the price includes absolutely everything you need. Including a gold-finished 'right where you need to be' bookmark, inspiring quote pages, and a keepsake pocket. There is also the option to be dated for 2021 or undated so you can start your organisational journey at any point throughout the year, making it wonderfully timeless and can be used for years to come.

Hoping it provides a moment of much needed calm, we hope you love these Life Planners as much as we do! If you need anything else including samples, please get in touch.

About Martha Brook

Martha Brook is the home of delightfully individual stationery designed to uplift, inspire and empower.

It all began with one girl and her printer. Founded by Martha Keith in 2013 who quit her corporate career with the dream of starting her own stationery business. From small beginnings in Martha's spare bedroom in Brook Green, we've grown into the feel-good lifestyle brand we are today, and it's been quite the journey! We have sent out more than 200,000 pieces of stationery to more than 50 countries around the world, have been widely featured in the UK press and won several awards for our brand and products.

We exist to create personalised stationery which isn't just beautiful but genuinely helps people to live their life with greater intention. Martha Brook has grown due to the passion of our community who have shaped and supported us every step of the way. In 2020, we raised our first round of investment through equity crowdfunding and are proud to now have 500 members of our community owning shares in our business.

We have big ambitions for the future of our brand and take great pride in being a fun and creative place to work. Our West London headquarters is home to an ever-growing team who are committed to our mission of creating uplifting paper-based goods and nurturing our thriving community to help people be the best version of themselves.
